THE SEIGNIORAGE.

The first selection of the Bland bill as it passed the House of Representatives provides that the Secretary of the Treasury shall cause to be coined, as fast as possible, the seigniorage on the silver bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890. This seigniorage or gain amounts to the sum of $55,156,681.

The second section of the bill provides that after the coining of the seigniorage provided in the first section the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of the act of July, 1890, shall be coined into legal tender standard dollars as fast as possible, and the coin shall be held in the Treasury for the redemption of the Treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion; that as fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued, but shall be canceled or destroyed in amounts equal to the coin held at any time in the Treasury derived from coining of the bullion, and silver certificates shall be issued on the coin in such manner as now provided by law. This section further provides that the act shall not be construed to change existing laws relating to the legal tender character of mode of redemption of the Treasury notes issued under the act of July, 1890, and it also appropriates a sufficient sum of money to carry the provisions of the act into effect.

Should this bill become a law all the silver bullion in the Treasury will be coined as fast as possible. A sufficient number of the silver dollars so coined are to be held to redeem outstanding Treasury notes issued in payment of the bullion, and silver certificates shall be issued for the balance, as now provided by law.

As the silver is to be coined as fast as possible, it will be necessary to reopen the Carson Mint, where coining was suspended last June, and it will remove the pile of bullion from the Treasury, which is an obstacle to the advancement of the price of silver.—Journal.

WAIT.

Senator Stewart, the Populist crank, has offered an amendment in the Senate to the Bland seigniorage bill, providing for the free coining of silver. Stewart ought to be squelched. He is always trying to do something in the interest of the Populists by favoring free coining. If he wants silver restored why don't he wait till the professors of the Republican kindergarten school of finance, educate some Republican Senator way up in the philosophy of free coining and have him introduce an amendment or a free coining bill, and thus secure its passage. The speeches of these professors at the opera house in Reno have been adopted by the Reno Publishing company—the trustees of the school—as its curriculum. As soon as the Gazette can print this course of study it will distribute it in the capital among the Senators. The arguments of such professors as Fulton, Colcord, Torreyson, Coffin, Summerfield, Turrill and Bartine will educate such goldbug Republican cuckoos as Sherman and Hoar, Allison and Frey, Lodge and Cullum before the noon recess. "All the Republicans are in favor of free coining but differ in the mode of securing it." Let the people wait until these professors point out the proper way. They will soon point—they are accustomed to pointing with pride—and we will get free coining just as easily as rolling off a log.—Silver State.

HOME MERCHANTS.—The question of home patronage is a varied and complex one, but from every point of view it seems important that all citizens, so far as lies in their power, should spend their money with their own regularly established merchants. Indeed it there is a single excuse, or a fraction of an excuse for that matter, for patronizing tramp peddlers or agents and allowing one's self to be swindled thereby, to the detriment of the whole trade, we are yet to hear of it.—Ex.
